

The Daily Freeman.

VOL. 1.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) N. Y., SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1872.

NO. 157.

THE DAILY FREEMAN,
PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.
Sundays excepted.
BY HORATIO FOWLES, at the
Newkirk Building, Division St.,
City of Kingston, (Rondout, N. Y.)

The DAILY FREEMAN will be an Independent Republican Journal, with an opinion on every subject, firm in its advocacy of freedom, equal rights and justice for all men; outspoken in its opposition to the abuses and the follies of the day, in favor of progress and improvement everywhere, and especially devoted to the interests of the City of Kingston and vicinity.

The Telegraphic News Department will be complete and well supplied, the FREEMAN being a MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK ASSOCIATION OF PRESS, through which it receives and is enabled to present a full summary of intelligence from all parts of the world every morning.

Local News and especially City, Town and County News will receive special attention, paid correspondents being employed in all parts of the country. All news received from other than our regular correspondents will be paid for if used. Full reports of all important meetings will be presented, and in every respect the DAILY FREEMAN will be a First-Class Paper and a worthy companion of the WEEKLY FREEMAN.

Commercial and Stock Reports carefully corrected every day.

The DAILY FREEMAN will furnish for the breakfast table of its patrons the news from all parts of the world up to 2 o'clock A. M.

Terms—Six Dollars per year, payable invariably in advance. If collected weekly, Fifteen Cents per week. Single copies four cents.

Advertisements will be displayed as ordered, and charged according to the space occupied, measured in inches down the column.

THE WEEKLY FREEMAN, a large, well-filled paper, will be sent to subscribers at $2 per annum, payable in advance. HORATIO FOWLES, Editor and Proprietor.

JOHN PRINTING in all its branches promptly, cheaply and neatly done. By the use of a new Press and a large force we are enabled to turn out work at a rate that distances all competition. We have facilities for printing Law Cases unequalled between New York and Albany.
HORATIO FOWLES, Proprietor.

A Very Extraordinary Story.

A lady of Indianapolis furnishes the People, a paper there, with the following extraordinary narrative concerning Lisette Bernard, a girl of French extraction, "who was one of a car load of orphan, homeless children, sent West from New York by the Children's Aid Society there, to find homes. My husband had spoken to Mr. Friedman, the agent of the society, brother of the shoe merchant in Washington street, to bring him a little nurse girl the next car load he should conduct to the West. This was in the Winter of 1864-5. That Spring, in April, he brought us Lisette, stating that he knew nothing of her parentage, and that he selected her on account of her gentle disposition from a number of favorites at the Orphan Asylum on Randall's Island, near New York, where she had been for four years.

"There was nothing remarkable about her but her very mild ways, and dreamy, weary look from her deep-set blue eyes. I noticed Lisette manifested a peculiar and intense interest whenever I played on the piano selections from any of the old operas and masterpieces. At such times I would frequently find her sitting in the adjoining room utterly oblivious to everything but the music, from the effects of which she seemed to awaken when spoken to, and would then raise herself as if from sleep. This absorption was the subject of frequent remark in the family. One night last November, at 2 o'clock, my husband and I were roused from our slumbers by hearing the sweetest music, coming apparently from our piano. Our bedroom was off the sitting-room, all on the same floor, and of course we were frightened. The doors from our room to the sitting-room and the parlor were all open—the gas by our bedside burning dimly, but the parlor was dark. We lay a moment listening to the perfect concert of sounds from the piano, which we perceived was under the fingers of a master hand. The music was from Handel—one of his grand and majestic movements, and not one that I had played on that piano, and I had not the notes in the house. The playing ceased a moment or two, and soon began with one of Lisette's fantasias, and so difficult of execution that none but the highest professors of art ever attempt it. I had heard it the Summer before at Crosby's in Chicago, but had never tried it myself. Mr. J. and I hastily dressed ourselves, for by the time we supposed some of our friends had taken this novel method of serenading us. But who was the performer then touching the instrument with a skill possessed by none of my acquaintance, was the puzzling question. We passed noiselessly to the parlor door; the light from our room by reflection made everything in the parlor visible. You may imagine our surprise when I tell you that the performer at the piano was none other than Lisette, dressed in her gayest suit, with her abundance of hair put up in a style I never saw before on any one, but very neat and tasty. Her face was from us, and Mr. J. motioning to me to keep silence, lighted the gas, and we both went to Lisette's side just as she concluded the fantasia. Her eyes were closed, and her face unusually pale, was now deadly white. At the same time Lisette, turning her head toward me and bowing politely, said in a lady-like voice—not unnatural to her—"That was Lisette's own favorite when I knew him; beautiful isn't it?"

"But here is something I like better," and turning to the piano, her eyes still closed, she gave with exquisite skill one of Bach's Counter Fugues, which is perhaps the most difficult of all compositions to render, but when well delivered, as this was, carries the hearer from earth to heaven. If I could render a Counter Fugue, as a musician, I should be content. I was so absorbed in her theme that I forgot who was the fine performer. As she closed, Lisette rose gracefully, and bowing said:—"That is sufficient for this child to night; she must now rest. Please, kind friends, do not waken her in the morning; I will arouse her at the proper time," and bowing again with a womanly grace Lisette had never attained, she passed to her room.

"The next morning Lisette, usually an early riser, slept until 10 o'clock. We said nothing to her of what we had witnessed, nor told it to any one else that day. On the second night after we were awakened about the same hour by a similar performance in the parlor. We went in again. The pieces played were all classic, mostly from Handel—one or two from Beethoven—and their execution perfect; only one of which had ever been played in her hearing. Between each she made remarks and criticisms as naturally as if she were some accomplished performer presiding at the piano, and not our little nurse girl. As she closed this performance she astonished us more than ever by saying: "Good friends, I much thank you for your kindness to this child; I am her mother, and I am training her unconsciously to herself. Please do not tell her of this practice, for I fear she will not long remain with you, as she is very delicate," and bowed herself out as before.

"These performances being repeated every night after, became somewhat annoying, especially since Lisette seemed to be declining rapidly. The physician prescribed for her, but never seemed to understand her case. He witnessed the musical performances. He said she was undoubtedly asleep the whole time at the piano. On one occasion she turned to him and said: "Oh, doctor! I see you don't understand this; Lisette is not before you except in body. I am her mother. I can use her body. My name is Therese Bernard. I was reared in Lorraine, married in Paris. I taught music in Paris—it was my grand passion. My husband died on board ship as we came to America. I died in New York a few months afterward. I have watched Lisette ever since—you need not give her medicine—she will soon be with me and Louis."

"She lingered till January last and died a painless death. It was a gradual fading away. Her performance ceased in December. After her death Mr. J. wrote to the asylum whence she came to know what the record showed concerning her. The answer, so far as applicable, is as follows:

"Bernard Lisette—Entered January 20, 1861, from Bleeker street tenement house. Supposed to be four years old; mother died of starvation; said to be a French music teacher.—Lisette sent to Indianapolis April, 1865."

"She never touched the piano when awake, but she said she would like to learn to play it. Nor did she, with but two exceptions, play any pieces that were played in our house by any person."

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Sure Pop! Sure Pop! Sure Pop!

It kills all sorts of vermin, from an ant to an elephant. Sums Port Avery has a good thing, and not being selfish don't want to keep it, but is willing to give others the benefit of it by their paying his modest prices. Look for him to-day.

Good Meat.

The TenBroeks, in Wall street, keep excellent meat at the lowest market prices.

Religious Appointment.

Rev. G. W. Knapp, formerly of the Second M. E. Church of Kingston, is stationed at Olaverack and Philmont.

Personal.

H. W. Wingo of the Eagle Hotel has gone to Shandaken with a double barreled gun, to visit the pigeon roost. He is looking out for his guests.

No Arrivals.

No coal laden boats reached tide water on Friday, but boats through from Honesdale are expected to arrive to-day, as ten were loaded at that place on Saturday last, being the first since of the season.

Horticultural.

The board of management of the Hagenet Horticultural Society will hold a special meeting at the office of Van Ette & Clearwater this (Saturday) evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Accident.

A son of Mr. P. McCormick, the soap manufacturer near St. Mary's church, a lad of fourteen years, while wrestling with another boy on Wednesday, was thrown with such violence as to fracture the fore-arm.

George Buys a Watch.

George von Beck on Friday purchased a handsome gold repeater of Patrick O'Reilly, Jr., for $583. When George gets that watch in his hob, his $150 spring suit, lavender kids and nobby hat on and seats himself in that magnificent carriage behind that spanking team, he is a stunner, and no mistake.

Lengthy Direction.

A merchant of foreign birth, doing business in this city, some time since had occasion to communicate by letter, with his friends in the fatherland, and in the letter he enclosed one of his business cards. On Friday he received an answer to his letter and the superscription on the envelope was a verbatim copy of the business card—a manner of directing a letter which afforded much amusement not only to the merchant, but the post office clerks.

Verdict.

A tall, lank specimen of humanity who was evidently a late importation from the back country, on Friday forenoon got on one of the street cars, clutched a long black traveling bag which looked as if it might contain a paper collar, and after seeming to enjoy his ride he inquired of the conductor "how long it took to get to Dan's?" Upon being informed he was in the wrong car, he gave a startled look and exclaiming "Jophet Hugel!" he fled for Higginsville.

Heart-Broken and Drunk.

We were told of a young man of elegant (?) leisure who resides in the lower portion of this city and who has become so enamored of one of the beautiful young ladies of the Vienna Orchestra troupe that he proposed marriage to her by letter, and informed her if his proposition was favorably entertained he proposed to settle upon her twenty thousand dollars forthwith. Receiving anything but a flattering reply to his matrimonial project, he immediately proceeded to wax exceedingly drunk and manfully pathetic over his heart wounds.

The Vienna Orchestra This Evening.

Our music-loving citizens should not fail to attend the Vienna Ladies' Orchestra concert at Washington Hall this evening. There has been but one opinion expressed by those who have heard these young ladies perform, and that opinion is that they furnished the most delightful entertainments we have ever had. The programme will be a rich one, the selections being from the most eminent composers, interspersed with simpler music. This last opportunity of hearing the celebrated performers ought to draw a crowded house.

Town.

The steamer Marshall on Friday took the following vessels: For New York, schooner Jessie Williams; barge First Effort and Thos. Ward; boats Rastless, stone boat, 2001, 1901, 1905.

Notes Up Town.

The streets have been somewhat lively because of the number of people who have come to take part in the court proceedings. These folks are generally from the country, and congregated out of doors at the Court House gate in such a manner as to almost make the walk impassable. Here they interchange opinions about the weather, crops, and sundry law-suits in which they are interested.

Notes Up Town.

The Grand Jury had their hands, as well as their heads, full of business this term. In the court room there don't seem to be anything especially interesting.

Notes Up Town.

Several new shops have opened, and held their levees in this part of the city, making the streets very attractive for the ladies, who through the walks every evening, and gaze with wistful eyes in the windows decorated with fancy colored ribbons, hats, &c., and no doubt long—but no doubt we have said quite enough already.

Notes Up Town.

Mr. John Parsell will soon open his tea store on Fair street, in the old Continental Saloon. His teas, coffees and spices will be the best in the market. The saloon will also be opened in the old Continental rooms, in a few weeks, which will be extremely gratifying to those of the community who delight in icy draughts and pleasant gardens in which to sip them, where they can see the moon, stars, and sky—and someone else likely—during the hotted term,—if it ever come.

County.

Ellenville wants more sidewalks laid, so her trustees have ordered all goods to be flagged. This is a wise move, for good walks in any place add greatly to the convenience of everybody.

Drowned.

Edward Hommel was accidentally drowned in one of the quarries at Quarryville, in this town, on Tuesday night of last week. It seems that he had been to Quarryville to visit Mr. daughter, who was quite sick, and on his way home to Browsersville took a road which leads between two quarries that were filled with water and several feet below the road. The night was dark and rainy and it is thought that he either stumbled or missed his way and thereby met with the accident. He was not found until the next morning. He was about 60 years of age. Justice Mercein held an inquest.—Saugerties Telegraph.

Improvements at Paltz Point.

A circular recently issued by Mr. Smiley, gives the following account of the recent improvements at that place and of the attractions of the spot: In all directions wild and very romantic walks have been opened, including one to Newlin's Cave discovered last Summer, another from the bridge through the "Labyrinth" to the "Great Crevise" and a third to the "Gate of the Winds," all opened since last year. A fine drive two miles long has been built to Eagle Cliff, and further south. Four miles away is a fine Sulphur Spring, and about the same distance an ice cave where ice remains the whole year. Arrangements will be made the coming season by which parties can be conveyed to these and other interesting places, including the new "Woodland Drive."

All around the house the hard delicious rocks are grooved and polished by ancient glaciers. The air is delightfully cool and bracing, the thermometer rarely rising above 80, and the highest point reached for several years being 86 in the hot Summer of 1870. There are no mosquitoes and no miasma on the place.

During the season of 1870, the first in which it was fairly opened to boarders, over 5,000 persons visited the place, and the accommodations proving insufficient, the house was greatly enlarged. During the last season (1871) the patronage of the house was more than doubled.—New Paltz Independent.

Circuit Court and Court of Oyer and Terminer.

FRIDAY, April 19.

The jury rendered a verdict in the case of W. Endor and vs. Scott for plaintiff, of $1148.40.

No. 32, Mary C. Hume vs. Cyrenius F. Brill was then called. This is an action against the Sheriff of Ulster County for illegally levying upon and selling the property of the plaintiff, J. Fiero, of counsel for plaintiff, J. Fiero, of counsel for defendant, T. R. Westcott. Mary C. Hume, in 1869 and 1870 was the owner of a stove with contents in Higginsville, in the village of Kingston. The husband of the plaintiff, Wm. W. Hume, became indebted to Richard W. Smith and a judgment was obtained against him in 1866 in the sum of $203.39. An execution was issued on this judgment, under which execution the Sheriff (defendant) made a levy and took possession of the goods in the stove to the amount of $229. The plaintiff immediately reclaimed the property, and has ever since been in possession of the same. The plaintiff proved her ownership to the property, and the court charged the jury to render a verdict for the plaintiff and assess the value of the property at $229.

No. 33, The First National Bank of Bondout vs. John W. Kerr and others, was referred to Henry M. Taylor, of Poughkeepsie, to hear and decide the same. The above is an action against the defendants, C. D. Koon, the collector of the town of Kingston, and Kerr and Townsend, for taking from the bank of the plaintiff, the sum of $1000, which was loaned to him on certain shares owned by stockholders of the bank.

No. 54, Elizabeth Ann Wilson, by guardian, vs. Oscar Mulford, was then tried. The attorneys in the case are J. H. Jackson, for plaintiff, J. Fiero, of counsel for plaintiff; Carpenter and Fowler for defendant, T. R. Westcott, of counsel for defendant. This is an action for an assault and battery committed by defendant, at that time a school-teacher, teaching a school at Highland in this county, on the plaintiff, who was a scholar in the same school. The plaintiff is a young woman of the age of 19. On the 13th of January, 1871, she became engaged in some dispute with one of her school-mates in the school room, by name Feeny Freer, and called her bad names. The teacher then gave her a severe whipping. The defense showed that the plaintiff had used improper language to Miss Freer, her sister had been to Brooklyn, and there had an abortion performed on her. They proved further that the plaintiff was generally of an unruly disposition, and was somewhat given to tossing spit-balls around the room, to the great annoyance of the teacher. She wouldn't learn her lessons, and was disobedient generally.

The defendant further testified that before he gave the whipping, he gave a preparatory, as a sort of preparatory to the punishment, that this tap was given to ascertain the thickness of the clothing of the criminal, the weight of the other strokes being guided accordingly. A large number of young ladies, residents of Highland, and at the time of the transaction, scholars in the school, were called as witnesses. They were bright, intelligent girls, or rather young ladies, and gave the sombre court-room quite a different aspect, with their bright faces and rich costumes.

Elizabeth A. Wilson was called as a witness and testified: Am plaintiff; reside in Highland; was pupil in that school in 1871, of which Oscar Mulford was teacher; Feeny Freer called me names; I asked her who she was speaking for; I told her I thought I was just as good as her or any of her sisters, and just as virtuous. This was between 11 and 12 o'clock; the defendant then whipped me over the shoulders and arms; I went home at noon; defendant told me I must not tell my parents; that if I did not do so would; that there were no tell-tales in school; he said he hoped I would learn me a lesson. After I went home I went to the doctor's to get examined.

Cross-Examined—She was crying; Mulford whispered to her; I said nothing inculcate to her.

Lillie Dolson—Live at Highland; in January attended school with plaintiff; I sat second seat behind Miss Wilson; sat in the same seat with Miss Freer; don't remember any indecent language being used by the plaintiff; saw him whip her; he used a stick.

Emma Wilson—Was in school.

Mrs. Wilson testified the plaintiff's back and shoulders had some twenty stripes on them, some of them very severely lacerated; she said the size of the smaller part of my little finger.

Oscar Mulford—Am defendant, and Commissioner of Schools; have been engaged in teaching about eight years; had been employed at Highland as teacher about 2 years when the transaction took place. Previous to the trial I had occasion to put Miss Wilson on the platform; finally I allowed her to go out with the other children; that after she came in school he heard the plaintiff whisper in a sarcastic manner to Miss Freer, "Brooklyn! Brooklyn!" The witness then inquired about the matter and heard the plaintiff had been using bad language as before stated. He then talked to her, and gave her a whipping. She disobeyed every order made for the government of the school. She broke an order of the school in using obscene language. She was in the habit of throwing spit balls, and doing various other things to annoy the school. The whip used was an ordinary switch. The ship was here brought into court, carefully done up in a newspaper, which the witness immediately recognized as the whip in question. This whip was here passed around for the inspection of the jury and bar. It was pronounced to be a wild cherry switch.)

The witness further testified he was in the habit of giving the scholars a preparatory stroke in order to ascertain the thickness of their clothing, and then went on and finished the whipping.

Mr. Becker testified that he had preserved the whip from that day to the present time; that he was at the time assistant teacher in the same school, and that she was guilty of bad conduct, disobeyed the rules of school frequently, when witness would report to the principal (defendant).

After the trial of this case John McCarthy was arraigned. The prisoner is indicted for highway robbery; for stealing a watch from the person of one John Smellburgh, Saugerties. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced by the Court to the Albany Penitentiary for the term of five years.

Zachariah Barly, indicted for stealing a horse of the value of $100, and harness of the value of $30, from Charles Morse; also for stealing a wagon of the value of $100, from Solomon Krom of Wawarsing. Plead guilty; sentenced to Albany Penitentiary for the term of one year.

Hiram Sawyer, indicted for murder, for killing Walter Soper of the town of Bopis. Plead not guilty. The Court appointed Peter Cantine as counsel for the defense. The case goes over the term.

The next case called was No. 100, Anna C. Woolsey vs. Frederick Dahl. This is an action to determine the title to a lot of land in Bondout. Layton & Robbins, plaintiff's attorney, T. R. Westcott of counsel for defendant.

No. 101, Ballard vs. O'Neil, was put over term by consent.

David on Billiards.

On Wednesday afternoon a very interesting match game of billiards came off at Newburgh between the Six correspondents from that city and Geo. W. Davis of the Poughkeepsie Eagle. Davis caused the pride of that San man to go down like grass before a mowing machine, and then he retired crowned by the bays of victory. The conqueror was transported to the Railroad station at Fishkill on board the steamer Nassau, the steam whistle of the boat meanwhile sweetly playing "see the conqueror here, &c." Davis wanted to cross the Hudson on the Fanny Garret, but his friends wouldn't permit him that to recklessly risk his valuable life—they keep something of a watch over him since they heard of his walking across the railroad bridge at Rosendale on a stringer on the day of the bridge celebration. George always was a reckless cuss.

Sharp Practice.

We hear of a piece of sharp practice of a newly made German wife, who resided on Perry street, in this city. Out of respect to the unfortunate husband we suppress the names. The facts, as they reach us, are these: A German widower a short time since, took unto himself a second wife, but before doing so his intended prevailed upon him to give her a deed of his house and lot. The marriage took place and all looked well for the future of the husband. How far they had journeyed in the honeymoon we are unable to say, when a cloud broke over the husband in the sudden departure of the wife, with the deed and ten dollars borrowed from a former housekeeper. With the money "she fixed herself so nice and gay," and that is the last heard of her in these parts. The whole looks like a "put up" job on the part of the dishonest wife. What proceedings, if any, the husband will take in the matter we have not learned, but presume he will endeavor to seek her out and cause her arrest.—Poughkeepsie News.

LOCAL NOTICES.

We give all due praise to the beauty of the carriage of Longyear & Shanks. At the same time we must confess that the Kehrer Bros. of the City of Kingston, have for the past and present years, proved to the public that they are in possession of one of the finest and best Liveries in the State. The most skillful and careful drivers are employed, while their elegant "trafanois" have no superior in point of style and safety. And these beautiful greys with flowing tails, decked with gold metal harness, attached to their beautiful Clarence Carriage, the airy envy of many, and even would have caused the late Jim Fisk, or the present Commodore Vanderbilt, to envy the Kehrer Bros. The continued success and patronage of the first families in the city, are evidence they are well deserving of the praise ascribed to them and the patronage of those who desire nothing else but first-class turnouts. 156w2.

EVERYBODY INTERESTED.—The spring campaign fairly commenced at the old stand of O'Dell, English & Co. A large and splendid stock of cloths, cassimere, coatings, chevilles, suitings, spring overcoatings, English caris, diagonals and other spring goods for men's wear, just received. We take pleasure in notifying that we are in the market with a complete line of new goods for the coming season. Our spring importations have arrived, and are now open for inspection. We flatter ourselves that we can exhibit to our patrons this spring a larger, finer and better selected stock of goods than can be found elsewhere. We cordially invite the public to call and examine our stock before purchasing their spring outfits, confident that in point of variety, style and finish we cannot be excelled. Our goods have been selected with great care, and from the fact of our importing direct from the manufacturers enables us to get a different line of goods from any other house. We desire to express our thanks to all who have contributed to our success during the past year, and will take this occasion to say to all that if fair dealing, honest goods, close application to business will continue this success, we shall leave nothing undone to secure this result. Don't forget the place—the old stand of 43ml
